

Direct and Indirect Speech Interrogative Sentences

Exercise 1: Convert the following sentences into direct and indirect speech sentences:

Direct: "Will you come to the party?"

Indirect: She asked if you would come to the party.

Direct: "Have you completed the assignment?"

Indirect: She asked if you had completed the assignment.

Direct: "Are they planning a trip to Europe?"

Indirect: He asked if they were planning a trip to Europe.

Direct: "Did she enjoy the concert?"

Indirect: He asked if she had enjoyed the concert.

Direct: "Will he be attending the meeting tomorrow?"

Indirect: She asked if he would be attending the meeting the next day.

Direct: "Has she seen the new movie?"

Indirect: He asked if she had seen the new movie.

Direct: "Are you going to the market?"

Indirect: She asked if you were going to the market.

Direct: "Have they received the invitation?"

Indirect: He asked if they had received the invitation.

Direct: "Did you enjoy your vacation?"

Indirect: She asked if you had enjoyed your vacation.

Direct: "Is it raining outside?"

Indirect: He asked if it was raining outside.

Exercise 2: For each direct speech sentence, transform it into indirect speech:

Direct: "Are you coming to the party?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Will she attend the seminar?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Did they finish the project on time?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Is he going to buy a new car?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Have you met my sister before?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Did the teacher explain the lesson well?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Are we allowed to bring snacks into the movie theater?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Will you help me with my homework?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Have they booked their tickets for the concert?"

Indirect:

Direct: "Is it possible to reschedule the meeting?"

Indirect:

Answers:

Direct: "Are you coming to the party?"

Indirect: She asked if you were coming to the party.

Direct: "Will she attend the seminar?"

Indirect: He asked if she would attend the seminar.

Direct: "Did they finish the project on time?"

Indirect: She asked if they had finished the project on time.

Direct: "Is he going to buy a new car?"

Indirect: She asked if he was going to buy a new car.

Direct: "Have you met my sister before?"

Indirect: She asked if you had met her sister before.

Direct: "Did the teacher explain the lesson well?"

Indirect: He asked if the teacher had explained the lesson well.

Direct: "Are we allowed to bring snacks into the movie theater?"

Indirect: She asked if we were allowed to bring snacks into the movie theater.

Direct: "Will you help me with my homework?"

Indirect: She asked if you would help her with her homework.

Direct: "Have they booked their tickets for the concert?"

Indirect: He asked if they had booked their tickets for the concert.

Direct: "Is it possible to reschedule the meeting?"

Indirect: She asked if it was possible to reschedule the meeting.

